

Let us NOT blame people if.....

- We Hired highly competent people with great attitude but not created an environment to challenge and retain them
- We hired less competent people with great attitude to learn but not have any process for developing them
- We hired Highly competent people with poor attitude just because we were busy in closing the positions
- We hired Less Competent people with poor attitude to learn and struggling to get work done from them.

